

BURGLARS BUSY IN SPITE OF NEW FLATBUSH POLICE

Station Inaugurated 19 Days Ago Hasn't Recorded Arrest,
While Houses Are Looted.

Residents in southern Flatbush complain of the new police protection arranged by the inauguration of the One Hundred and Seventy-fourth Precinct station nineteen days ago. They say they haven't any protection at all and that the burglars know it and are operating extensively in that section. Police Commissioner Cropsey lives near the borders of the One Hundred and Seventy-fourth Precinct and tonight a committee will tell him that although scarcely a night passes without a burglary the police of the new station haven't made an arrest since they have been there.

The new station comprises three frame cottages, fitted with many luxuries and conveniences. They have parquet floors, lounging rooms, dining rooms and kitchens, and the angry residents say that the policemen spend too much time at pinocle and checkers and in the dining rooms to chase burglars.

Among the residences robbed in the past week are those of William Wellford, manager Auto Topics, Avenue H and East Fortieth street; Charles C. Hunt, No. 2218 Avenue G; T. B. Ackerson, No. 1200 Ocean avenue; Charles Osborne, No. 1200 Avenue G; and James Edwards, No. 1202 Nostrand avenue.

Sterling blue and gray Chinchilla, lined with warm flannel, cut extra long, made extra strong. Really extra coats throughout. Ten Dollars? No! $7.50 for boys of 8 to 17.

"Long Overcoat for me," says one boy of ten—but that one's wishes must be respected. Boys' Overcoats here are all-wool and mannish in style. $7.50 to $20.

Seems unnecessary to say, "and everything that's good for boys"—but there are always people who refuse to know until they are told. The "all-wool" standard has never been handed down at Wanamaker's.
